And the Governor are in Rebellion

OFFICERS ARE IN CONTEMPT OF COURT

Judge Would Like to Have the Governor Before Him.

GENERAL BALL ISSUES A DEF.

And Will Resist Arrest—Still Hold
Miners' Leader—What Gov.
Peabody Says

Ourray, Col., April 12.—District Judge Theron Stevens has declared Adjutant General Sherman M. Bell and Captain Bulkeley Wells in contempt of court for not complying with the writ of habeas corpus which required the officers to bring before the court Charles H. Moyer, president of the Western Federation of Miners, whom they are holding in confinement at Telluride. The court ordered Sheriff Corbett to arrest the two officers.

Judge Stevens severely criticised the course of Governor Peabody and the military authorities, saying they appeared to be in insurrection against the court.

General Bell, through Assistant District Attorney David Howe of Telluride, excused his failure to produce Mr. Moyer on the ground that he deemed it unsafe to bring Moyer to Ourray or to reduce the military force in San Miguel county by so doing, and that the governor had ordered him to disregard the writ.

Judge Stevens said:
"The people of Ourray will rightly resent the imputation that General Bell or Captain Wells could not come alone and in safety with President Moyer before this court.

"A very grave question is presented as to whether it is the striking miners or the governor of Colorado and the National Guard that are engaged in insurrection and rebellion against the laws of the state.

"If there is to be a reign of military despotism in this state and civil authority is to have no jurisdiction, the latter might as well go out of business."

Judge Stevens refused to permit the filing of the return to the writ, ordered that Charles H. Moyer be discharged from custody, issued an order of attachment against General Bell and Captain Wells, assessed a fine of $500 each and expressed regret that the governor was not before the court, as he held him equally guilty with General Bell and Captain Wells.

GENERAL BELL DEFiant.

Telluride, Col., April 12.—When General Bell was informed that Judge Stevens had ordered himself and Captain Wells confined in the Ourray county jail for contempt he said:

"If Sheriff Corbett takes us to Ourray it will have to be over the dead bodies of all the soldiers under my command in this county. He has not men enough to do that. The situation demands that we stay in Telluride.

"Mr. Moyer will never be produced in court until Governor Peabody orders me to produce him, unless he escapes and goes over the range on snow shoes."

Denver, April 12.—Governor Peabody said:

"We will not recognize the writ of attachment, and the military authorities will not appear in court. Neither will we give up Moyer. We will claim that the courts have no right to enjoin or arrest the officers or members of the military while they are on duty. They are not subject to attachment or injunction at this time.

"If the district court of Ourray is to be allowed to interfere in the carrying out of the plans of the military under martial law, there is no reason why a justice of the peace might not, with equal authority, intervene and render the military absolutely powerless and impotent. The court has made known its wishes in the matter and we have stated our position. It is now up to the court to make the next move."

TEXAS

Race War is on as Result of Murder by a Negro.

Houston, Texas, April 12.—News from Waller county, 60 miles north of here, owing to the murder near Hemstead of Tucker Pinckney, brother of John Pinckney of the Houston district.

Pinckney and George Goss were riding by a negro church when they were fired upon. While the dead man's body lay in front of the church a negro with a shot gun informed the crowd that he did the shooting, after which he disappeared. This negro had a finger shot off.

Goss says that they were hunting cattle and rode to a negro church for a drink of water when they were fired upon. Seven revolver shots entered Pinckney's body. Goss said he has had trouble with the negroes, and thinks they mistook the dead man for him.

Over 100 armed whites are in the field after the negroes.

Congressman Pinckney wired that he would leave Washington at once and will arrive Wednesday. The dead man was one of the leading planters and stock men of this section.

MYSTERY

Of a Philadelphia Murder Is Solved— Negro Confesses Killing a Club Watchman.

Philadelphia, Pa. April 12.—The mystery surrounding the murder of John Thomas, the aged night watchman at the Houston club of the University of Pennsylvania, has been cleared up by the arrest and confession of Lawrence Gibson, alias John Oakley, who was for a number of years employed as a utility man at Houston hall. Gibson is a West Indian negro and says he is a native of Jamaica.

Gibson was arrested at his home early in the day and at first denied all knowledge of the crime, but he broke down and confessed to the murder. Self-defense is his plea. Gibson says he went to Houston hall to call on Thomas. The watchman, Gibson says, evidently mistook him for a thief and attacked him. In the struggle he unintentionally killed the old man.

The police do not believe the story. Superintendent of Police Quirk is of the opinion that revenge for being dismissed from Houston hall was the motive for the murder, although he has not entirely discarded the theory of robbery. Gibson, whose complexion is so light that he easily passed as a white man, misrepresented himself as a student at the university and married a young white woman three weeks ago. When the deception was discovered he was discharged from Houston hall. He expected to get revenge and his reason for attacking the watchman the police decline to say.

The authorities said that Gibson was wanted in Jamaica for some offense.

Mother Maims Child.

Oil City, Pa., April 12.—Mrs. Luke Gough, 27, became insane a week ago but was not placed under restraint yesterday afternoon, obeying what she conceived to be a divine command. She sat her daughter, Harriet, aged 8, on top of a gas stove, and before the other children could bring assistance, cut the right hand of her child off at the wrist with a blunt paring knife. The mutilated victim may recover. Mrs. Gough was a member of the sect known as the Holy Rollers.

RADIUM

Will Be Produced in U. S. Says Prof. Millikan of Chicago.

Chicago, April 12.—"It is only a matter of time until America will be a great radium producing country," said Robert A. Millikan, of the department of physics of the University of Chicago. During the last few weeks he has made tests indicating that there is an abundance of radium producing ore in America.

In the ore sent from South Carolina he found radium actively present in as great a degree as is found in the ore from the German field at Joachimsthal. In the ore from the Colorado mines he also found this activity present to a great and promising extent.

CAPT HOBSON IS DEFEATED

Merrimac Hero Swamped in Race for Congress.

The Incomplete Returns Show That Hobson's Opponent Carried All the Counties But One.

Birmingham, Ala., April 12.—In the general Democratic primaries interest centered in the Congressional race in the Sixth district between Congressman J. H. Bankhead and Captain R. P. Hobson. While complete returns have not yet been received enough has been learned to show that Bankhead has defeated Hobson by a good majority.

Incomplete and estimated returns from eight of the nine counties show that Hobson has carried but one of them, the county of Hale, which is his home, and gives him 500 or 600 majority. He has also probably carried Pickens county, but as it is remote nothing has yet been heard from there. Bankhead has a majority of 250 in Tuscaloosa and has the county by 600. He has also carried Green, Sumter, Marion, Lamar and Fayette counties by majorities ranging from 200 to 500.

Hobson Still Has Hope.

Birmingham, Ala., April 12.—(Bulletin)—Later returns today from the Sixth district congressional contest reduce Congressman Bankhead's apparent majority considerably, and Hobson's supporters have not given up the fight. Four counties give Bankhead an estimated majority of 1,150, two give Hobson estimated majorities of 375; two counties appear to be about a standoff, and one other, not heard from, is thought to give Hobson a majority of about 300. On this basis Bankhead's majority would be 475 but later reports are likely to reduce it further.

DAN. SULLY DENIES HE IS BANKRUPT

New York, April 12.—D. J. Sully & Company, through their attorneys, Dos Passos Brothers, have entered a demurrer to involuntary bankruptcy proceedings instituted by creditors of the firm.

The demurrer states that the petitioners are not just, true and faithful creditors, that it does not appear upon the face of the petition that Sully & Company have committed an act of bankruptcy; further, that it does not appear that the petitioners have made such a case as entitles them to any release.

Dan J. Sully, in a sworn appended statement, declares that the demurrer has not been imposed for the purpose of delay, but has been entered in good faith, upon the advice of counsel.

of Cattle Butchers in Swift & Co's Packing House Is Averted.

Chicago, April 12.—A threatened strike of the cattle butchers employed by Swift & Co., in every packing center of the west, was averted today when the company agreed to take back into its employ one hundred butchers discharged on account of light trade. The company was accused of discriminating against old employees who are prominent in labor organizations. Last night the Butchers' union voted to strike at noon today unless the dismissed men were reinstated. All other stock yard firms, it was claimed, in reducing the number of hours have kept their full force at work part of the time and the union asked Swift to do the same thing.

SUPREME COURT ON THE MERGER

Decides Cause Should Go Back to State Court.

Justice Harlan Says Circuit Tribunal
Should Not Have Entertained
the Case at All

Washington, April 12.—The United States Supreme court decided the case of the State of Minnesota versus the Northern Securities company and the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railway companies, involving the validity of the merger of the two railroad companies, holding that it was without jurisdiction and reversing the opinion of the court below.

Justice Harlan, who delivered the opinion, said the Circuit court should not have entertained jurisdiction in the case, the effect being to remand the case to the state courts.

Justice Harlan said the proceeding was for the purpose of enforcing both the state law and the federal law and analyzing its provisions, he said it was clear that the case did not belong to any of the classes provided for by it.

The contention that the case involved proprietary interests of the state was not allowed to influence the opinion. On that point the court said in part:

"The injury on account of which the present suit was brought is as most only remote and indirect; such an injury as would come alike, although in different degrees, to every individual owner of property in a state by reason of the suppression, in violation of the act of Congress, of free competition between inter-state carriers engaged in business in such state. If Minnesota may, by an original suit in its name, invoke the jurisdiction of the Circuit court because alone of the alleged remote and indirect injury to its proprietary interests arising from the mere absence of free competition in trade and commerce as carried on by inter-state carriers within its limits, then every state upon like grounds may maintain in its name a Circuit court of the United States, a suit against inter-state carriers engaged in business within their respective limits."

The court also refused to hold that Minnesota's dignity or rights as a state would be affected under article IV of the federal constitution by permitting the stock of corporations of that state to be held by an outside corporation like the Securities company.

Justice Harlan said the court did not think that the article of the constitution had any bearing whatever on the question. He said in conclusion: "For the reasons stated we are of opinion that the suit does not—use the words of the act of 1855—really and substantially involve a dispute or controversy within the jurisdiction of the Circuit court for the purpose of a final decree. That being the case, the Circuit court following the mandate of the statute should not have proceeded therein, but should have remanded the case to the state court."

The opinion of the court was unanimous.

VIRTUAL VICTORY FOR STATE.

PLOT

Of Five Prisoners to Blow Their Way to Freedom.

Nashville, Tenn., April 12.—A daring plot of five long term convicts, Curtis Dixon, Peter Dodson, Oscar Peckey, Jack Parham and Jim Young, murderers, robbers and forgers, to duplicate the escape of Gus Hyatt, was unearthed at the Tennessee penitentiary yesterday when two sticks of dynamite and cans with a box of pistol cartridges were discovered by the officials. A sensational climax to this discovery was the attempt of Pete Dodson, the leader, to commit suicide by cutting his throat when confronted with proof of the attempted crime. When Dodson was brought into the presence of the officials he jerked out his shoe knife and drew it across his throat twice falling at the feet of the warden and prison physician with the blood gushing from his wounds. He will probably die. The men aimed to blow their way to liberty some time this week.

BRISTOW

Made to Bear the Blame—Whitewash Committee Will Criticise Him in Report.

Washington, April 12.—The whitewash committee will give every member of the House a certificate of character in its report to be filed today, and will criticise Fourth Assistant Postmaster General Bristow. The blame for connecting the names of members of Congress with the post-office department graft will be placed on him.

The report will say that he "needlessly and without justification connected the names of members of Congress with those of alleged and now convicted criminals." The committee in its anxiety to clear the members of the House has reached the conclusion that General Bristow had the original report on salaries and allowances prepared in order that he might justify a statement made in his original report that "hundreds of similar cases existed," referring to Congressional influence in securing allowances for clerk hire and rentals.

Postoffice officials testified before the whitewash committee that the list containing the names of members of Congress was prepared by Mr. Waters, chief of the division of salaries and allowances, at the request of Chief Postoffice Inspector Cochran who had been instructed to furnish the data by General Bristow himself.

The committee refused to take into consideration that General Bristow had the information compiled for the sole purpose of substantiating his report should be called upon to do so. No blame is placed on Chairman Overstreet of the committee on post-office, who compelled the department to send the list to the committee and who subsequently made it public.

In a Masquerade

By
Harriet G. Canfield

Copyright, 1903, by T. C. McClure.

Leslie Wolcott threw himself on the green bench near the stone wall. It was shady there under the big maple. He had been in the fields all day, directing his men and working with them. After nine months in the dingy offices of Grant & Wolcott it was good to be in the country once more. He pulled his straw hat over his eyes and made overtures to the "sandman."

"I'll take a little nap," he said drowsily and then sat bolt upright. Some one on the other side of the wall was speaking his name. It was a woman's voice—a young woman's—and she was angry.

"Mr. Wolcott, indeed!" she was saying. "Why, father had no idea he lived next door when he rented this little place for the summer. Father isn't like you, Aunt Hetty; he isn't always trying to marry me off."

"There, there!" the lady addressed as "Aunt Hetty" replied soothingly. "I simply expressed my pleasure at your father's unusual foresight in renting a place near Mr. Wolcott's, a young man who is not only wealthy, but well bred and well educated."

"Foresight!" the girlish voice cried indignantly. "I've never met Mr. Wolcott, and I've no desire to meet him. The very fact that he is rich is enough to prejudice me against him! What can there possibly be to foresee?"

"That will do, Elizabeth! I had supposed a Carter incapable of such ingratitude as you have expressed!"

There was the soft swish of skirts over the grass, and then Leslie Wolcott awoke to the fact that he had been eavesdropping. Well, like other listeners, he had heard little good of himself. He lay staring up into the leaves, trying to imagine what Elizabeth Carter was like—this girl who was "prejudiced against him." He was interested and slightly piqued. The more he recalled the conversation the more interested he became. His sister was away; would not return for a month. Must he wait until Edith came home to begin the acquaintance? No; he doubted if Miss Carter would return her call. A sudden inspiration came to him. The farm hands called him "Mr. Leslie"—most of them had been on the place since he was a boy—and it was as "Mr. Leslie" that he would make the acquaintance of his new neighbors.

The father seemed old and feeble. Leslie saw him in the evening, wandering among the rosebushes on the lawn. A girl of thirteen or fourteen was with him, but "Elizabeth" did not appear.

In the morning he was starting for the fields when her voice came to him over the high stone wall. "Madge," she called, "come here and help me carry this rug; it's so heavy!" Madge was slow in coming, but Leslie vaulted over the wall and ran up the steps of the little cottage. A shapely head, covered with braids of soft brown hair, turned at his coming and two great, dark eyes looked at him inquiringly.

"Pardon me," he said, "but you called."

"Yes," she replied. "I called my sister. Is there anything I can do for you?"

"No," he stammered. "I came to ask you that question. I was on the other side of the wall, and—"

She looked at him quickly, suspiciously, he thought, and seemed relieved at the sight of his blue overalls and old straw hat.

"I'm Leslie, the overseer," he said reassuringly. "May I lift the rug for you now, Miss Carter?"

"Thank you," she said, and she thanked him again when he carried it to the porch and spread it carefully on the floor. Madge and her father came up and she introduced him to them. "Mr. Leslie, father," she said. "Mr. Wolcott's overseer." The old gentleman extended his hand cordially. "Come over the wall, did you?" he asked laughingly. "Well, come over again—come often. I envy you the ability to do so, young man."

In the days that followed Leslie made the most of Mr. Carter's invitation, to the evident delight of Madge and the disgust of Aunt Hetty, who complained that she seldom found them alone now, when she came out for the day—that forward overseer was always there!

Leslie knew her opinion of him. Madge, child fashion, had repeated her aunt's language. "My!" she said. "I wish you had seen Beth's eyes flash! She stood up so straight and tall—like this—and she said, 'Please be careful how you speak of my friends!'"

Leslie's face flushed with pleasure. "It was kind of Miss Elizabeth to say that," he murmured.

"Oh, she likes you. But Aunt Hetty is worried because Mr. Wolcott isn't at home. You see, she would like to have him fall in love with Beth and marry her. 'Elizabeth,' she said, 'what will Mr. Wolcott and his sister think when they come home and find that you have been so intimate with their hired man?'"

And Beth said, 'They will think that I recognize a gentleman when I meet one.' I'm sorry Aunt Hetty says such horrid things about you!"

"I'm glad!" Leslie cried, to the amazement of his little friend.

At the end of the month Edith Wolcott came home and was immediately taken into her brother's confidence. "Don't give me away when you call there," he cautioned her.

"Not if I can help it," she said laughingly.

Elizabeth received her politely, but Aunt Hetty, who was present, was more than cordial. "I'm so glad that you and your brother have returned, Miss Wolcott," she said. "There has been no one for my nieces to associate with in your absence."

"You forget our friend Mr. Leslie," Elizabeth said quietly, and Edith Wolcott's heart went out to her then and there.

"Speak to her, Leslie," she urged that evening, "before she returns my call. I can't keep your secret much longer."

"I will now," he said determinedly. "I caught a glimpse of her white dress out there in the moonlight. Wish me good luck, little sister."

An hour later Edith heard his step on the walk. She met him at the door, a question in her eyes. "Congratulations?" she asked.

"Yes, for Mr. Leslie. I'm jealous of that overseer!" he said, smiling ruefully. "Beth was willing to take him for better or worse, but Leslie Wolcott she—"

"Oh!" Edith cried. "She didn't reject you, Leslie?"

"No, but I need your sympathy; she put me on three months' probation!"

Keep the Mouth Shut.

Keep the mouth shut. This peremptory command is to insure proper breathing—that is, breathing through the nose. One should never unless absolutely necessary breathe through the mouth. It is the duty of the nose, and it was made for that express purpose and is specially constructed to aid correct breathing. In the first place, it is provided with tiny hairs that trap dust and impurities that may be in the air and prevent their invading the system. The nose has also what are known as turbinated bones. These act as warming plates to temper the air as it is inhaled. It is further provided with an apparatus for furnishing moisture to the air. All these processes are quite essential before the air is drawn into the lungs, and if the breath is drawn through the mouth many of these essentials are lost. It is an excellent plan to take a good brisk walk every morning and to compel oneself to breathe through the nose all the time. This is a first rate hygienic practice. At first it may be difficult to do so, but it is worth persisting in, and "practice makes perfect."

Made In Germany.

"Talking of funny incidents," said the crockery salesman, "reminds me of one that occurred in our house. At the time the 'mustache' cup was a curiosity, and the boss thought it would be a good scheme to put it on the market at a reasonable price. Well, he went to Germany, and, finding that the Kaiser's subjects knew nothing about the cups, the boss gave an order for a big lot of them, to be of fine ware and handsomely decorated. In the course of time the goods arrived. Then the fun began. A few of the cups were satisfactory because they were plain—that is, without mottoes—but the great bulk of them bore such phrases in big gilt letters as 'To My Dear Aunt,' 'For My Darling Mother,' 'From Tom to Lucy,' and so on through the list. The Germans had the money and declined to take back the goods, so they were sent to auction, the plain ones packed on the tops of the packages, and, as sure as we're sitting here, the house made more out of them than it would have done if the German manufacturer had not made the blunder."

Conveyed a Warning.

The Rev. Dr. Snow, finding himself downtown at the noon hour, dropped into a restaurant for a luncheon. He hung his overcoat against the wall, sat down and ordered his meal, which he ate leisurely. When he had finished and turned to look for his overcoat, it was gone.

He reported his loss to the cashier, who was sorry, but could do nothing, as the restaurant was "not responsible for hats, overcoats or umbrellas."

"Oh, I am not holding you responsible," said the doctor, as he paid the bill. "I shall get the coat again."

"What makes you think so?" asked the cashier.

"In one of the pockets," he replied, "was a letter, with my name and address on the envelope, and in another pocket was a printed sermon on 'Future Punishment.' Good day."

His confidence was not misplaced. The overcoat was brought to his house the next day by a messenger boy, who said a stranger had sent it and that there was no message.—Youth's Companion.

The Marquis of Queensberry has gone into bankruptcy for the fourth time. If he keeps this up the financial world may soon begin to look upon it as a Marquis of Queensberry rule.—Denver Post.

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

Gold and silver appear in laces for spring.

Russian embroidery is here for a long stay, possibly the entire summer.

The trimming on the full skirt is nearly always put on in running about lines.

A new trimming is a braid which is made of punched velvet, with satin ribbon run through the openings.

Many of the prettiest summer materials show striped effects. A satin stripe of the same color as the ground-work is a favorite.

A new and extremely beautiful shade of pink is called "arbutus." It is especially becoming to the girl with dark eyes and hair.

Sheer blouses for summer wear are endeavored all over with passion flowers, wistaria blossoms and anything that is strongly and effectively.

MRS. ARTHUR SHERBURNE HARDY.

Mrs. Hardy is the wife of Arthur Sherburne Hardy, United States minister to Spain. Before her marriage in 1898 she was Miss Grace Aspinwall Bowen. Her husband, who is well known as novelist, diplomat, civil engineer and educator, has been minister to Persia, Greece, Roumania, Servia, Switzerland and Spain since their marriage, and she has seen much of European life.

FLOUR SACK SUITS.

How Filipinos Are Using an American Product.

The Filipino is not wasteful with fabrics. He may be shiftless, but he is economical, says a writer in Leslie's Weekly. All flour sacks are carefully preserved by him and made into quite comfortable suits. The fact that there are several red or blue lines of advertisements across the cloth praising the brand of flour does not disturb the wearer.

The natives of the Mariguina valley of the island of Luzon utilize the American flour sack on more systematic principles than natives of other parts of the Philippines. They not only buy sacks containing flour, but also those that are empty. They wash the sacks and then proceed to manufacture out of them pants, shirts and other articles of wear themselves or turn the texture into the shop of the native tailor, who takes the proper measurements for suits in a most serious manner.

No attempt seems to be made to erase the red and blue letters. The natives do not understand the meaning of the lines setting forth the merits of certain brands of flour and appear to regard the colored lettering as a correct ornament. They wear flour sack suits to church, to cockfights and other notable events for the elite. The texture is tougher by far than the flimsy cotton stuffs that the Chinese sell, and the natives hope that the American flour manufacturers will continue to send good sacks to the Philippines.

Generals Pa and Ma.

Chinese names when spelled in English letters sometimes give funny results, as Hung Soon, a merchant in San Francisco. But more striking are two Chinese soldiers, General Ma, a division commander of the Chinese army, and General Pava (pronounced pa), a renegade who fought for Aguinaldo in the Filipino insurrection. Late in General Pava visited China and became acquainted with General Ma, and it is said the two are great friends.

HORSES AND HORSEMEN.

Walter Witherill, a New Hampshire trainer, has taken charge of the horses at J. F. Howland's stock farm, Paris, Me.

Philadelphia road riders have paid $200,000 in the last six months for trotting horses to drive on the speedway.

Oscar L., 2:03½, owned by John Grady, Ardmore, Pa., slipped on the ice recently, breaking a leg, and had to be destroyed.

Emmett Rowan, who has been second trainer for Roy Miller several years, has joined the working staff at Dr. McCoy's Delaware farm.

H. K. Devereux will have Peko, 2:11½, prepared for the matinee season. She has won more heats than any Cleveland matinee trotter.

Scott Hudson has purchased from Float Jolly, Tipton, Ind., the gelding Fred McCurg, 2:15½, by L. W. Bennett, 2:19½, dam Jennie B.; reported price, $6,500.

Food Adulteration.

State Chemist Walker of Nebraska after spending several weeks in analyzing tomato catchup and strawberry jam states that only one brand of catchup was found which was made from tomatoes and was not artificially colored. Pumpkin was found to form the basis of all the others, and the coloring is attained by means of coal tar dyes. Alleged strawberry jam in a number of cases he found was made chiefly from pumpkin, colored with coal tar dyes and containing a preservative in the form of benzoic. Timothly seed was also found to be an ingredient in some cases.

Vladivostok.

Vladivostok is described as being from a military standpoint very nearly impregnable, for it possesses so large a garrison that to invest it properly would require 150,000 men. The town stands at the head of a long, curving inlet known as the Golden Horn. In the corner of which lies the dockyard.

MISS GLADYS DEACON.

This fascinating young American girl has played havoc with many hearts in Europe. Her latest conquest is the crown prince of Germany, who, it is said, has declared that he would rather marry Miss Deacon than be emperor. Miss Deacon is a daughter of the late Edward Parker Deacon of Boston.

BREVITIES

THE HALL OF FAME.

Among the presents given by the Duke of Norfolk to his bride, Miss Maxwell, was a sable wrap—costing $6,000.

Dr. Karl Burckhard, formerly geologist in the Museum of La Plata, has been appointed chief geologist of the geological survey of Mexico.

Habits of youth often cling fast and long. A. L. De Libias of Roxbury, Mass., learned to play the oboe when very young and still practices at ninety years.

Edward Porter Cheney of Red Bank, N. J., a brother-in-law of Horace Greeley, has just died at Litchfield, Conn. He secured for the Tribune its first subscriber.

C. B. Orcutt, president of the Newport News Shipbuilding company, has invited the president to be present at the launching of the battleship Virginia on April 5.

Captain Howard Blackburn of Gloucester, Mass., is having another small boat built, in which he intends to make his third trip across the Atlantic. The boat will be eighteen feet long, with a seven foot beam.

James Warden, supposed to be the oldest expounder of Methodism in the world, has just died in the Baltimore county almshouse at the age of 102 years. He had spread the Methodist faith for over fifty years.

Prince and Princess Henry of Prussia dined with United States Ambassador Charlemagne Tower and Mrs. Tower recently in Berlin. The guests, besides the personal suits of Prince and Princess Henry, were Americans and Germans married to Americans.

H. C. Henley, chief of the St. Louis fire prevention bureau, has been appointed a lecturer on insurance at Yale. The position is an honorary one, carrying no salary, and the incumbent is not expected to deliver more than one lecture a year before the insurance classes.

MODES OF THE MOMENT.

Lots of narrow valenciennes is used on the fashionable fichu.

There is little difference in the general outline of the late winter and early spring gowns.

Flounces of lace are worn on lace gowns, and some net toilets have three or five narrow lace flounces for foot trimming.

On imported velvet and satin gowns a new lace, combining crochet and netting, has appeared. It gives the impression of fringe.

Buttons are one of the most striking features of this year's fashions, and imitations of precious stones are used. They make a display that is often dazzling.

Chemisettes and vests of chiffon and lace will abound this season, it is said, and dead white will be combined with black, with a narrow fold of colored velvet at the throat.

SHIPPING NOTES.

The local vessels plying to Seattle during the year 1903 carried in the aggregate nearly 1,000,000 passengers in and out of that port.

The United Kingdom continues to lead the world in shipbuilding, more than half of all the tonnage put afloat being constructed at the yards of England, Scotland or Ireland.

There are twenty American steamships of four lines sailing to the Pacific from Atlantic seaports, and in addition there are American sailing ships of a gross tonnage of 122,000 capable of making the voyage to the far east.

In view of the fact that the year 1903 was one of the most disastrous that shipowners have ever experienced it is somewhat surprising to learn by the official returns that the amount of tonnage put afloat last year was practically the same as in 1902.

GERMAN GLEANINGS.

Germany buys abroad annually over $12,600,000 worth of green fruit.

In all the crematories of Germany there was increased activity last year. Gotha led, with 274 cases.

In some of the theaters of Germany it is customary to turn on green lights to indicate a long intermission.

During the German army maneuvers there were moved over one railroad in two days, without suspending its regular traffic, 56,000 men, 5,200 horses, 228 wagons and 390 tons of baggage.

A laundry company in Berlin proposes to furnish linen free to all customers who will give them the washing of it. They estimate that in this way they can get back twice the original investment.

SOUTH AFRICA.

A Canadian trade commissioner in South Africa recently booked there in ten weeks for between $8,000 and $9,000 ploys.

South Africa is at present importing immense quantities of cement. It comes chiefly from England, Germany and Belgium.

Only half the razors imported into South Africa are of British make. The rest are chiefly of German origin. Even the "educated Hottentot" shaves himself now occasionally.

British Smallland is making steady progress. The value of the imports last year was over $2,000,000. The imports consist chiefly of cotton goods, largely from the United States; rice, sugar and liquors.

THE RAILWAYS

FORMER NEWARK MAN INVENTS TWO OIL BURNERS

Which Are Being Used by Erie—New B. & O. Diners—Pennsy Order for Cars—Local Budget.

Mr. William G. Killworth, a former Newark boy, now with the Erie railroad at Cleveland, O., has invented two oil burners, one for welding broken frames on locomotives, without taking them off. The other burner is used on an engine for heating with oil in the place of coal. He has equipped one of the large class of engines with his burner, and it has given perfect satisfaction. The Erie is going to equip its yards engines with them.

New B. & O. Diners.

The B. & O. has ordered a number of new dining cars for May delivery. These cars will be equipped with the Pintsch gas and electric lights, Pullman standard vestibules, and the latest modern improvements throughout.

Order for Cars.

The order for 1,100 cars placed by the Pennsylvania with the American car and foundry company will be for the company's lines west of Pittsburgh. These cars will be built at the Detroit works.

Transferring Big Engines.

The B. & O. railroad company has begun the transfer of its big Atlantic type passenger engines from the Pittsburgh division to the division of the main line through West Virginia and Ohio and to the B. & O. S. W. This transfer is being made to provide the best kind of motive power for the heavy passenger trains that will be installed in a couple of weeks and continued through the period of the Louisiana Purchase exposition. The first of these locomotives to be transferred from the Pittsburgh division was No. 1367 which had been running on the Duquesne limited.

Big Decrease.

The Toledo and Ohio statement of earnings for the first week in April which has just been issued, shows a decrease of $17,718 as compared with the corresponding week of last year. The earnings of the week last year amounted to $58,973, and this year to $39,221.

BISHOP POTTER'S CRITICISM

A Protest Against Deceiving the Sick and Wrecking Lives.

Unusual comment has been caused by Bishop Potter's declaration that Maine's prohibition law is a failure when the sale of sarsaparillas and other so-called cures containing up to 61 per cent. (over half) alcohol is unrestricted, while claret wine with only 10 per cent. alcohol is barred out by law. As a matter of fact, the majority of the wines-of-this, wines-of-that, and other patent medicines sold in all states depend upon alcohol and stupor-inducing drugs for their temporary effect. They lower the vitality, wreck the nerves, and often lead to an uncontrollable desire for alcohol and nerve-deadening drugs. This is one of the principal reasons why doctors are opposed to patent medicines and it is why we have repeatedly stated that

INDIANS

WHO WERE IN THE WRECK NEAR CHICAGO THURSDAY

Will Pass Through Newark Tonight—General Time Card Meeting on Friday, April 15.

The terrible disaster which occurred on the Chicago and Northwestern railway, near the suburb of Melrose Park, close to Chicago, last Thursday, in which three Nebraska Indians were killed outright and twenty-three seriously injured, is still fresh in the minds of the readers of the Advocate. The Indians were on their way east to join Buffalo Bill's Wild West show. There were sixty-eight Indians in the party, and of this number thirty escaped uninjured. These will pass through Newark on Baltimore and Ohio train No. 8 tonight, en route to Washington. A few of their brothers remained to care for those who were injured.

The general time card meeting of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad system, will be held in Baltimore on Friday, April 15, when all arrangements for handling the World's Fair Lumber will be arranged for, together with all changes in the spring time table.

The morning Baltimore and Ohio passenger train on which the Cincinnati papers arrive, was over four hours late today. The train had some trouble down on the Midland division, the nature of which, however, has not been learned at the offices at this point.

Major D. H. Buckley, comptroller of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad, headquarters in Baltimore, in his private car, will pass through Newark tonight on B. & O. No. 8, en route to Clarksburg, W. Va.

without the use of alcohol or injurious drugs. Father John's Medicine is the best remedy ever prescribed for building up those who are weak and run down, and for all throat and lung troubles. It makes strength and flesh by which each organ of the body is enabled to do its proper work and thus drive the impurities out of the blood. Dr. A. H. Straub, a noted physician of Brooklyn, N. Y., adds his endorsement to the above in the following letter over his own signature: "I have frequently prescribed Father John's Medicine for grip, and for bronchitis and other respiratory diseases, and found that has cured when the regular pharmacopoeia remedies have failed. (Signed) A. H. Straub, M. D., 884 Bushwick Ave., Brooklyn, N. Y." Fifty years in use—got it today. The money is refunded in any case where it does not do all that is claimed for it.

The "full dinner pail" will hardly work as a campaign slogan by the Republican managers this year. Not because Mark Hanna is dead, but because the trick will be too transparent to fool workingmen in this campaign.

The fact that the United States saddled themselves with a Philippine problem involving perplexing racial questions, notwithstanding that the negro problem at home is no nearer solution than it was at the time of the enfranchisement of the black race, tends to destroy popular faith in the axiom that experience is the best teacher.

General Wood with 1,500 troops is about to move upon another Moro chief who refuses to give up a number of murderers and some United States property of which his followers have possessed themselves. This chieftain's haunts are in that portion of Mindanao which it was supposed had been thoroughly tranquillized some time ago. It seems, however, that we are still far from being at the end of the difficulties with the Moros whose sovereignty we have usurped and whose benevolent assimilation it will be necessary to accomplish by the cannon, the bayonet and the sword.

Poultry Exhibits at the World's Fair.

An item of interest to the farmers and poultry raisers of the country, in connection with the World's Fair at St. Louis, is learned from the eastern press bureau. The regular cash prizes offered for exhibits of poultry, pigeons and pet stock aggregate more than $16,000, and this will be greatly increased by appropriations from state commissions for state exhibits. The Missouri commission has set apart $7,000 for special prizes and expenses connected with that state's poultry exhibits. The special poultry clubs of this and other countries are making a very successful canvass for funds for special prizes for exhibits. One club promises to provide a prize fund of at least $300 for its favorite variety. Mr. T. H. Orr, secretary and treasurer of the American Poultry association, has been made the superintendent of the poultry show and the matter of receiving, cooping, feeding, exhibiting and returning the poultry, pigeons and pet stock at the World's Fair has been placed in the hands of a committee recommended by the association, consisting of Henry Steinmesch, of St. Louis; T. F. McGrew of New York, and U. L. Fisheloff of Hope, Ind. One is a successful and experienced superintendent of a large poultry show; one a former secretary of the American Poultry association and popular poultry author; and the third, one of the largest and most successful breeders and exhibitors of poultry.

MADE TO INTRODUCE BILLS BEFORE ADJOURNMENT.

Only Two Weeks Left of the Present Legislative Session—Monday's Business.

Columbus, April 12.—The La Fever bill, which provides for a board of control for all public service corporations met its first set back in the House on Monday. Its author wished the bill sent to the committee on railroads and telegraphs, as he considered this committee the most friendly. This was the only reason as the bill has absolutely nothing to do with steam roads or telegraphs. Instead, however, it was referred to the committee on cities, where it properly belongs.

The House concurred in the Senate resolution to adjourn sine die on April 25.

Among the bills introduced in the House were the following:

By Mr. Lehmann—Providing that county clerk shall receive the same fees for drawing petit jurors as are paid for grand jurors.

By Mr. Stewart of Clark—Requiring foster parents to be notified of proceedings to adopt child in their care.

By Mr. Stewart—Giving probate judges power to solemnize marriages.

By Mr. Fisher of Cuyahoga—Limiting the county commissioners in borrowing money for improvements with the amount of the assessment.

Senator Ricketts introduced a bill yesterday providing that in case of street improvements fronting any state property the state shall be liable for an equitable portion of such expense. The passage of this measure will prevent a recurrence of such claims as the city now holds against the state.

The apportionment of the expense shall be under the same rules as govern the assessment against private property and in such assessment the state shall be represented by the governor, the attorney general and the officer or board having the state property in charge, and may join or refuse to join in any petition of property owners asking such contemplated improvement.

The vote by which the Senate passed the Crafts bill, requiring all legal bonds to be furnished from bonding companies, was reconsidered. Senator Overturf who led the opposition to the bill when it was up for passage, was again strongly in evidence. Senator Hynes of Clark put the motion for reconsideration.

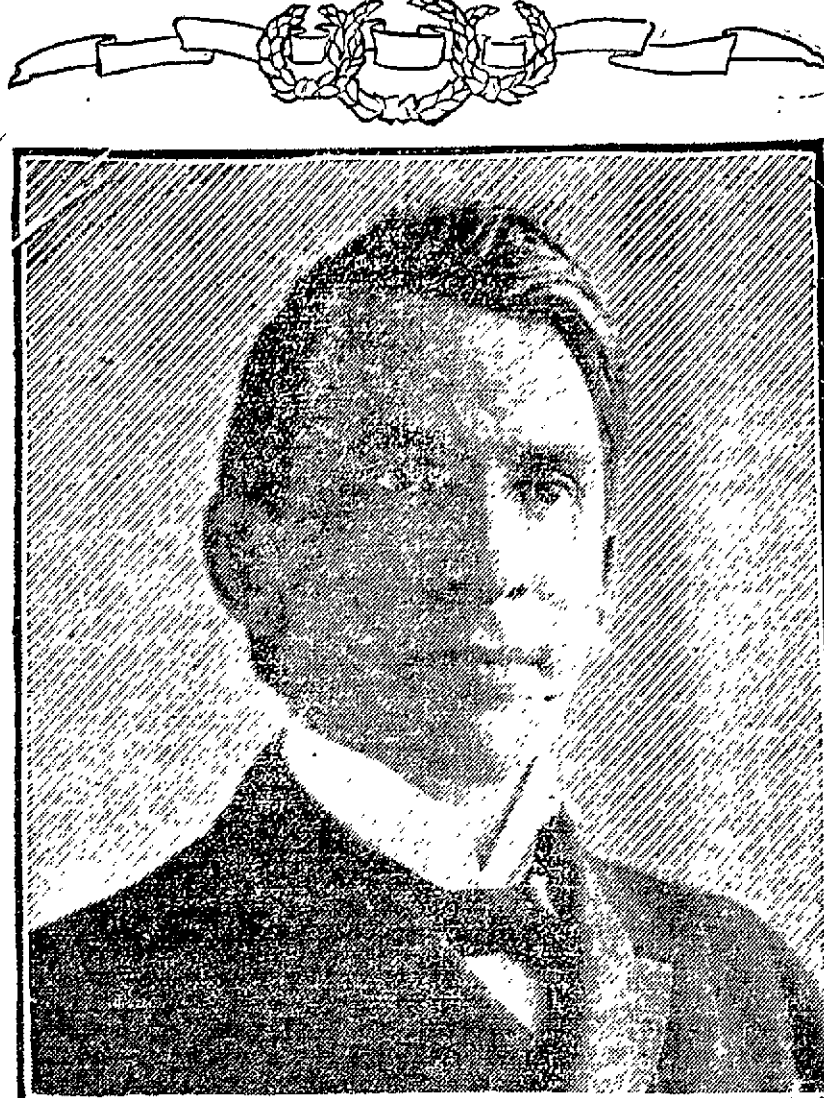

The objections to the bill are that it requires surety company bonds in all inheritances of more than $2000, and applies to cases of appeals from justice courts. The bill will take its place on the calendar, an effort to make it a special order for Thursday having failed.

POOR MAN

WHO STEALS FOOD FOR HIS FAMILY DOES RIGHT

Is Declaration Raymond Robins Made to Ministers at Meeting Held in Chicago

Chicago, April 12.—Raymond Robins, superintendent of the municipal lodging house, told the Congregational ministers Monday that the poor man who stole food for his family did right.

In his address Mr. Robins said that the ministers themselves were directly responsible for the circumstances which made fallen women and criminals.

"How many ministers here have the backbone and the nerve to go to the resorts against which they preach and talk to the persons they criticize? How many of you really know of the sins you preach against?" asked Mr. Robins.

"When a man is hungry he wants food before he wants gospel. What he wants first of all is material assistance and that is what the church should be prepared to give to him."

Police Court

Carl Redman and Lewis Abbott two boys aged about 15, were given three days in jail for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. They told Mayor Crilly they had gotten beer at Gus Kerns' and Max Naegele's and the parents of the lads caused warrants to be issued for the arrest of these saloon keepers for selling to minors. Kern appeared and pleaded guilty, paying a fine of $5 and costs.

Harry Green was fined $5 and costs for assault and battery on Peter Ritzer.

Deafness Cannot be Cured.

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When the tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. MR. DAWES

THINKING OF HAVING A PAPER IN ZANESVILLE

Report That an Offer of $30,000 is to be Made for Half Interest in the Courier.

The political and personal friends in Newark of B. G. Dawes, who is the Republican candidate for Congress in the Zanesville district, will be interested to know that it is his intention to get a newspaper in the field at Zanesville, to combat the influence of the Times-Recorder, the morning Republican newspaper, which bitterly antagonized Mr. Dawes before his nomination, and he has reason to believe is not friendly to him now.

It is announced from an authentic source, that the leaders of the Dawes faction in Muskingum county will offer $30,000 for a half interest in the Courier, which will be converted from an evening to a morning newspaper, or rather a morning edition of the paper will be issued in addition to the regular evening paper.

The deal will be consummated, if at all, within the next day or two. The owners of the Courier say they know nothing of the proposed effort to buy the paper.

LOCAL UNION, NO. 136.

Newark, Ohio, April 9, 1904.

To Whom it May Concern:

It is our duty to rectify some false impressions that has been going the rounds about the carpenters and contractors making a settlement, concerning the wage scale, which is altogether false. The carpenters and joiners demanded that 30 cents be the minimum scale, and the contractors offered but 28 cents. Therefore there is no settlement between us. The committee reported back to the local union the result of its doings and that body passed a resolution that we stand firm in our demands for 30 cents per hour and any man found working for a less scale shall be fined every day so working or expelled, or both.

Committee continued, Hupp, O'ell, Willey, Irwin, Bane.

TURN BACKWARD

BY GREGORY HUMES

"Ten years have changed you—for the better," said the woman.

"It has left you untouched," said the man smilingly.

The woman smiled. At thirty time is not necessarily a woman's enemy, and she felt that what the man said was true. Her beauty was a little more full blown, but it was in comparison to that of her youth as the perfect rose is to the opening bud.

For the man time had worked just the change she wished to see. True, the buoyant spirit of youth had gone from his eyes, and she would never again see the star shine in them when he spoke of his hopes, his ambitions and his love for her. Now they were clear and steadfast, looking out on the world with the confidence of a soul that has proved its strength. His hair was touched with gray over the temples, but his face was ruddy with health.

"It is strange that we should meet here in the very shadow of St. Michael's," said the woman.

"Yes," said the man, "it is strange. We were to have been married in St. Michael's. Do you remember that older time?"

They were walking leisurely up the shaded avenue, and it was some mo-which the most jealous husband might object. He loved the woman, and he was not willing that anything should be said by either her or himself that would make the old worship die away.

It was possible that the woman read some of this train of thought in his face, for she looked up at him once more. In her eyes was a curious smile.

They had reached her house, and she asked him to come in.

"Thanks," he said, "but I fancy that it will be impossible for me to do so. I shall endeavor to catch the 12:15 train for the west."

There was a cold dignity in his manner.

"You used to know Mr. Carlton, did you not?" asked the woman demurely.

"Yes," replied the man, a trifle grimly; "I knew him, but we were never friends. I may err in my suspicions, but I have always thought that it was he who told you the stories about me which made you break our engagement."

"Let us not speak of those old stories," said she softly. The smile was gone out of her eyes now. "Nor can I listen to anything against Mr. Carlton. He loved me in his own way, I think, and, after all, he was my husband, and a woman can never forget that. I think that of the dead we should speak no evil."

"Of the dead?" said the man in quick astonishment. "You mean?"

"Mr. Carlton died five years ago."

"But you told me that your half mourning was for your grandfather."

"So I did, and so it is. I did not think it necessary to wear mourning for my husband for Mr. Carlton five years. But there are the chimes on St. Michael's saying that it is noon. You will have scant time in which to catch your train. So goodbye. I wish you all happiness."

The woman extended her hand, and the man took it and said:

"Don't you know the air the chimes are ringing? They are saying, 'Backward, turn backward, O Time, in thy flight.' Can't we make old Father Time go back for us some ten years?"

"Time can never be turned back," said the woman seriously. But there was a tender light in her eyes which the man loved to see.

"If that is the case," he said, "we must begin all over again and bid defiance to time."

Side by side they stood and listened until the chimes had rung out their last note; then they entered the house together.

A Certain Cure.

Thomas Brown was about to take a short sea voyage. Thomas hated the sea and all that's in it with a 22 carat hatred, for he always suffered horribly when on the briny ocean, but he had to go, and there was no help for it. This time, however, he determined to put a new seasickness cure theory into practice, and no sooner had he got on board than he stooped himself away in his bunk and slept like a top till early next morning. He felt in perfect trim and went up on deck beaming with delight.

"I've found a certain cure for seasickness, captain," he announced to that individual. "Go to your bunk as soon as you get aboard and don't show your nose out of it until you are near your destination. It worked like a charm with me. I haven't had a qualm all night. Why, what are you laughing at?"

"Oh, nothing," said the captain, "only the machinery broke down just as we were starting, and we haven't moved out of dock all night. The other passengers were transferred, but we didn't know you were aboard."

The Waits of Old.

Five hundred years ago minstrels attached to the king's court were called waits, probably from the old French verb waiter, to watch. It was their duty to guard the streets at night and proclaim the hour, as watchmen did afterward until the appointment of police.

We find them spoken of by Rymen in the reign of Edward IV, as follows: "A waite, that nightelye from Mychelmas to Shrove Thursday pipeth the watche. He catcheth in the halle with mynstrelles."

Another derivation is indicated by Butler in his "Principles of Music," published in 1639, who mentions "the waits of holiers." In confirmation of this Dr. Busby says of waits in his "Musical Dictionary": "This noun formerly signified leathers, and from the instruments its significance was after a time transferred to the performers themselves, who, being in the habit of parading the streets at night with their music, occasioned the name to be applied generally to all such musicians."—London Chamberlain.

OBITUARY

CHARLES BEECHER.
Word was received in Newark on Monday afternoon of the death of Mr. Charles Beecher, a former Licking county resident, which occurred at Marysville, O., at 11 o'clock that morning.

Mr. Beecher was a son of the late Zina Beecher and was born in Herkimer county, New York, coming to Ohio with his parents when a child and settling on a farm near Oultville. When a young man the deceased studied law and began the practice of his profession in Fairfield, Ill., where he rapidly became one of the leaders of the bar at that place. He later moved to Cincinnati and became a prominent counsellor for several large corporations, continuing the practice of law in that city until some years ago when he retired.

For a long time he has been in failing health and only a couple of weeks ago returned from a health seeking sojourn in Florida, which did not prove successful, and went to the home of his brother in Marysville, where he died. Mr. Beecher never married and was 74 years of age at the time of his death. He leaves three brothers, Judge Edwin Beecher of Fairfield, Ill., Walter and George Beecher of Marysville, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Beecher Wilcox, who lives near Oultville.

This county, who was planning to celebrate the 54th anniversary of her marriage next week to which the deceased had looked forward to attending with much pleasure.

The funeral will take place at Marysville on Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock.

Charles Beecher was a man of wealth and influence, and his character was well formed along those lines which go to make up the true nobility of manhood. Since retiring from active business, he has devoted his life to philanthropy and the enjoyment of a well earned competence. He was at all times ready to aid the deserving, but unfortunate, and today there are many who will drop a tear of sincere and heartfelt tribute of love, at the bier of one who in life had been their friend and benefactor.

The deceased was an uncle of Conductor J. S. Beecher and Mr. Henry Beecher of Newark, and the former with his wife, left on Tuesday morning for Marysville to attend the obsequies.

PATRICK M'KINNEY.
It is with profound sorrow the many friends of Patrick McKinney will learn of his death, which occurred at the family home, No. 29 North Williams street, on Monday evening at 9 o'clock. Death was caused by pneumonia. He leaves to mourn his death a grief stricken wife, one son, Abraham McKinney, of this city, and one brother, Wm. McKinney, of Santa Anna, Cal. Mr. McKinney was well known and highly respected citizen. He has been a consistent member of the Christian Union church and a devout follower of the Master for the past 40 years. The funeral services will be conducted by Rev. J. W. Maxwell at 2 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, at the C. U. chapel on Pine street. Interment at Cedar Hill cemetery. The bereaved family has the sympathy of a large circle of friends in this, their hour of sorrow.

MRS. FRANCIS RICHARDS.
Martinsburg, O., April 12—Mrs. E. V. Herkett of this place has received a letter announcing the death of Mrs. Francis A. Richards, widow of Jesse W. Richards, and a former resident of Mt. Vernon. DR. WM. PIPER.
Word has just been received here telling of the death of Dr. Wm. Piper, one of the oldest physicians of Bellaire. Last fall Rev. A. E. Johnson, formerly pastor of the M. E. church of this city, removed his family to San Luis Obispo, Cal., with the hope of regaining his health. Dr. Piper, father of Mrs. Johnson, accompanied them to the coast. Dr. Piper was aged about 73 years, and had been confined to his bed for several weeks with heart trouble. The remains were expected to arrive at Glencoe, O., on Monday evening, where they will be laid in their family lot. Dr. Piper had many friends in this city who will regret to learn of his death. Rev. and Mrs. Johnson have the sympathy of their many friends in Newark. A son, Dr. William Piper, of Bellaire, also survives the deceased.

The passenger department of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railway has made a move of much interest and value to its patrons who desire to visit St. Louis during the World's Fair. It has established a bureau to supply the wants of visitors in the way of rooming accommodations. It has secured option to several thousand furnished rooms in St. Louis hotels and first-class private residences. All are inspected by a representative of the bureau. Many women are denied the happiness of children through derangement of the generative organs. Mrs. Beyer advises women to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—I suffered with stomach complaint for years. I got so bad that I could not carry my children but five months, then would have a miscarriage. The last time I became pregnant, my husband got me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. After taking the first bottle I was relieved of the sickness of stomach, and began to feel better in every way. I continued its use and was enabled to carry my baby to maturity. I now have a nice baby girl, and can work better than I ever could before. I am like a new woman." —MRS. FRANK BEYER, 22 S. Married Women

Every woman covets a shapely, pretty figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness. All of this can be avoided, however, by the use of Mother's Friend before baby comes, as this great liniment always prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form. Mother's Friend overcomes all the danger of child-birth, and carries the expectant mother safely through this critical period without pain. It is woman's greatest blessing. Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this wonderful remedy. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Our little book, telling all about this liniment, will be sent free.

In falling, Mr. Beese, who had a hatchet in his hand, struck Mr. Banner on the head with the hatchet, cutting an ugly gash and knocking him down. He was rendered unconscious for a time. His injury is not of a very serious nature.

In The Field of Sport :::

The baseball season in both National and American Leagues will open on Thursday of this week and from then until fall, the fans will have something to talk about.
The world's champion Boston team will open the American League season in New York; Washington will open its season with the Philadelphia club as its opponent, and the St. Louis Browns will entertain the Detroit tigers and Chicago plays Cleveland at Chicago.
The National League openings will find the champion Pittsburghs at St. Louis, Friday; the New York giants at Brooklyn, Boston at Philadelphia, and Chicago at Cincinnati.
All in all, the approaching season gives every indication of being the best for several years. The dose of peace can safely be said to be free from all harm now, for conflicting dates have been reduced to a minimum; there is no longer an outflow league; disputes over players are a thing of the past, and the fans can settle down and enjoy the game without having to hear an endless harangue of baseball politics.
The player has the center of the stage.
The majority of the big league teams are back from their training trips, and the unmerciful beatings handed out to minor league clubs in the South have given the fans all over the circuit hopes for pennant-winning teams. The race in each of the major leagues looks like a tighter fit than a year ago, and no matter which teams fight for the world's championship in the fall, the honors in both leagues will likely be well earned.

Newark lovers of the great National game are still loyal to the Cincinnati Reds, and the hopes and good wishes of a majority of local fans will be with Joe Kelley's team. The average Newark baseball crank however, has been fooled so often by pinning his faith to fulsome ante season predictions of a one, two, three finish for Cincinnati, that has been perennially dashed up by the baseball writers of that city, that we have not heard the usual winter arguments about Cincinnati closing with Pittsburgh, and that it will be a neck-and-neck finish with the Reds just in the lead as the wire is reached. Kelley will have to show goods, and his many Newark admirers will be loyal in their support.

Prompt and courteous service is what made the Bell telephone the leader.
The passage through the Suez canal in January was made by 124 vessels, against 294 in January, 1902, and the dues collected in that month amounted to 2,150,000 francs, against 8,130,000 francs.

INLAND SHIPPING.

Far Ferries From Milwaukee an Important Factor in Its Growth.
In no other country of the world but this could one speak of the shipping tonnage of an inland city, yet their fleets are one of the surest indications of the growth and prosperity of the cities up and down the shores of the great lakes. Curious fleets they are to hear about, for among their largest vessels is a flotilla of ferriesboats. But these are none of the wheezy, low set craft that ply the rivers and harbors of the Atlantic coast, but huge, powerful, modern steamships built of steel, nearly as big as an ocean liner and equipped for ferrying a whole freight train of thirty cars, while a cabin 300 feet long has every up to date accommodation for passengers.
The largest and newest of these ferries are those which cross Lake Michigan from Milwaukee and Manitowish to Ludington, where they connect with the easterly railroads. They were commissioned to give more direct communication than all rail line can be between the great northwest, where so much of the foreign as well as domestic commerce of the United States originates, and the Atlantic seaboard, for Lake Michigan so reaches down from the Canadian line that crossing it by ferry, even when freight and passengers are embarked, cars and all, saves six or seven hours and hundreds of miles of hauling over skirting it by rail. That the advantages the ferry brings to Milwaukee are very great is self evident, for it puts the city, which has already passed every other Lake Michigan port in tonnage, including Chicago, on the direct line across the continent and so assures the growth of its traffic in steadily increasing proportions.
Among lake ports Milwaukee has taken first place, with a shipping tonnage last year of 5,537,363, increased from 4,066,454 in 1902. While the new buildings erected in the Wisconsin metropolis in 1903 were valued at nearly $9,000,000 the output of its factories for twelve months rose to $251,810,927. Its Merchants and Manufacturers' association, organized for the furtherance of every good feature of civic life, has seen the municipality develop its schools, its park system and its public works of every kind until now it is admittedly one of the best residence cities in the country as well as the chief port of the fine landlocked seas.

An Ancient Irish Custom.
Mr. Mosher's little Biblot for April contains "Sea Magic and Running Water," by Fiona Macleod. There is a strange power of recording the old superstitions and sadness of the sea in that wandering essay, as many readers know. We quote her account of an ancient Irish custom handed down from pagan days:

"A man and his three sons, on an island which I will speak of only as south and east of the Minch, went secretly on the eve of St. Columba's day a year ago and took a pail of milk from the byres, and a jug of running water of a wellspring, and a small loaf of bread from the oven, and a red ragot from the fire held in a cleft stick. The youngest son threw the fire into the sea, crying, 'Here's fire for you!' And the other sons poured on the black flood the surf white milk and the rain gray water, crying, 'Here's cool water for you!' and 'Here's the kindly milk for you!' And the father threw the loaf of bread on the wave and cried, 'Peace to your hunger.'"

Study of Protozoan Parasites.
The discoveries of the protozoan parasites of malaria, smallpox, scarlet fever and yellow fever should stimulate pathologists and biologists to a renewed study of other diseases in which the specific causes are unknown. Such study must lead to the further relief of human suffering, for as vaccination produces some slight change which makes the system unsuitable for growth of the smallpox organism or as warfare on the mosquito limits the spread of yellow fever and malaria, so preventive or remedial measures will follow future observations and discoveries, and it is not too utopian to believe that before long some comparatively simple means may be found to prevent or cure diseases like scarlet fever or even cancer.—Gary N. Calkins in Century.

The Nickel Supply.
The nickel supply of the world at the present time is derived from two sources. The most important is the Sudbury district of Ontario. The other is New Caledonia, a French penal colony situated in the southern Pacific ocean. Consequently among the great powers France and Great Britain are at present the only ones possessing nickel for use in their armaments, and in modern armament nickel is now increasingly indispensable for armor and guns. There is reason to believe that if the British imperial authorities fail in with Canada's desire to conserve the nickel of Ontario for imperial use, France will at once take similar steps in regard to the nickel supply of New Caledonia.

Russia's Food Caches.
The Russians have taken the most remarkable secret precautions for the provisioning of their troops. At intervals of about a quarter of a mile along the greater part of the entire length of the Siberian railway stores of concentrated dried food have been buried on each side of the line, each deposit being enough to maintain a company—said to be 200 men—for a week. The position of these provisions is not known to the servants or captains, but only to the commanders, who have the information in cipher.—London Chronicle.

Woman's Ills

How rare a thing to find a woman who is perfectly healthy. Fully seventy per cent. of the sex suffers from ailments which often result in death. These ailments cause nervousness, irritability, melancholia, hysteria, etc. They entirely unfit a woman for life's work and deprive her of most of her joys.

JUDGES

WHO WERE ON THE BENCH MANY YEARS AGO,

And Those Who in Recent Years Have Had the Honor of Presiding—How First Elected.

By provision of the constitution of Nov. 29, 1902, to August 31, 1851, all judges of the various courts of the state of Ohio were appointed or rather elected by joint session of the members of the Legislature annually. The terms of judges in most cases were fixed at seven years, or "during good behavior." Also, all the state, military and civil officers for a period of 49 years were thus elected, except governor, sheriff, coroner and commissioners. Following is a list of the names of old pioneer citizens who were associated judges in and for the county of Knox, the years indicating when each commenced their judicial services from the "wool sack" now called "the bench," dispensing mercy with justice and equity to all comers as litigants or accused, for a period of about 44 years:

1808—William Wilson.
1808—John Mills.
1808—William Gass.
1808—William Farquhar.
1810—James Colvill.
1814—John Herrod.
1815—Abraham Darling.
1815—John Trimble.
1820—Joseph Brown.
1820—Stephen Chapman.
1820—Jacob Young.
1827—Abner Ayers.
1827—Anthony Banning.
1827—James McGilvey.
1834—James Elliott.
1834—Eli Miller.
1839—Richard C. Davis.
1841—William Bevans.
1841—Isaac Richardson.
1846—William McCreary.
1846—Jacob Brown.
1848—Benj. H. Taylor.

It does not appear of record in William A. Taylor's 100 year book, Annals of Progress, from which I have gathered the foregoing from a thousand or more of others so credited, that any Knox county citizen "learned in the law" was ever chosen to preside in either of the other courts of the state. Circuit, Superior or Supreme. This omission I cannot account for except on the theory that owing to their modesty they were just overlooked.

Since 1851 the service of judges has been as follows, the date showing the time when service began and ended:

February 9, 1852, Rollin C. Hurd, of Knox county, five years.

February 9, 1857, Sherman Finch, of Delaware, five years.

February 9, 1862, to Feb. 9, 1872, Thomas C. Jones, Delaware, ten years.

February 9, 1861, Jefferson Brumbaugh, Newark, resigned Oct. 1869.

October 1860, Jerome Duckingham, Newark, one year.

October 1870, to Feb. 9, 1872, Charles Follett, Newark.

February 9, 1872, Charles Follett, Licking county, five years.

February 9, 1872, to February 9, 1882, John Adams, of Knox, ten years.

February 9, 1882, to Feb. 9, 1892, Chas. H. McElroy, Delaware, ten years.

February 9, 1887, to Feb. 9, 1892, Clarke Irvine, Mt. Vernon, five years.

Beginning April, 1888, Jerome Duckingham, Newark, five years.

Beginning Feb. 3, 1892, John S. Gill, of Delaware, five years.

Beginning Feb. 9, 1892, John R. Waught, of Mt. Vernon, five years.

Beginning Feb. 9, 1897, John David Jones, Newark, five years.

Beginning Feb. 9, 1897, Emmett M. Wickham, of Delaware, five years.

Beginning Feb. 9, 1902, Charles W. Seward, of Newark.

Beginning Feb. 9, 1902, George S. Coyner, of Delaware.

During the last decade no Knox county man appears on the Supreme bench.

ELECTRIC LINE

First Step, It is Believed, Taken in Extension of Interurban Up the Muskingum.

The first step in a series of extensions, which, it is believed will eventually connect Zanesville with Marietta by an electric railway was decided upon at a meeting of the directors of the Parkersburg, Marietta and Interurban Electric railway company last Friday. Then it was decided to extend the Marietta end of the line up the Muskingum river to Devoll's Dam, a distance of something like eight miles above the city of Marietta.

The proviso that the proposition of the company embodies is that the right of way along the proposed line be given by the land owners, who requested the extension. An entrance in the city is in the specifications.

The people along the river are willing to do what is asked of them in order to get the line. Many believe that the other extensions up the Muskingum will follow which may eventually connect with Zanesville, and through Zanesville with Newark and Columbus.

HANDY WITH FISTS

Dr. Kaylor, Evangelist Who is Well Known in Newark Put to Rout Chicago Toughs Who Tried to Hold Him Up—The Doctor Tells of His Encounter.

The following from Chicago will be of interest to the many Newark people who heard the Rev. Dr. Kaylor in his special meetings at the First Presbyterian church and in the Newark factories a few months ago:

There was a vicious looking 38-calibre automatic revolver in Rev. A. H. Kaylor's pocket as he faced the audience at Forty-sixth street and Emerald avenue and told them of the beauties of the strenuous religion.

And Rev. Mr. Kaylor would have used the weapon, too, for he had been attacked by two footpads during the day, and when one of the highwaymen recovered consciousness he was lying in the middle of the street. And all that saved the second from a similar fate was the fact that he ran before the clinched right hand of the minister caught him on the jaw.

"I believe in the strenuous religion," announced the minister, and the automatic bobbed up.

"The Lord said that if a man struck you on one cheek to turn the other. But the Lord wasn't thinking of Chicago and its thugs," continued the minister.

Mr. Kaylor attended a service at one of the downtown churches yesterday morning. It was about noon when he started up State street. As he neared Ontario two suspicious looking men came down the street.

The pavement was not wide enough for the three and they met near the curb.

"Give us a quarter," said one.

"Not on your life," answered the preacher.

(He said "not on your life," and not "I beg to be excused from contributing.")

"Well, I make it a half. Now fork over," said the other.

"Not on your life. I work for my quarters and halves and I don't give them to any."

The preacher was not allowed to finish. One of the men swung at him, while the other reached for his pocket.

Then the minister's right went into action. He was an athlete at Yale once, and he learned considerable about jolts and swings and smashes.

He dealt out a choice assortment, and one of the highwaymen went reeling to the pavement. The other ran.

The minister wiped the perspiration from his face as he waited for the man to recover. The scoundrel's train was slightly clouded as he raised himself to a sitting posture.

"Now, you dirty thief, do you want any more of it?" queried the preacher.

"And they told me as how you was a preacher," began the man.

"I am. But have you had enough?"

"Say, but you're the goods, and I'm for you. Any one with a poke like dat preachin'! Say, but you're all right," and the highwayman was lost in admiration.

"If all preachers was like you I'd be a Christian," and the footpad hoisted himself to his feet and started in search of his companion.

And Rev. Mr. Kaylor went to his hotel and put the automatic in his pocket. And last night he said it would stay there until he left Chicago.

"And I'll use it, too," he said.

Rev. Mr. Kaylor delivered an address to the members of the Chicago bar at the Y. M. C. A. building at noon Monday. He was for years one of the most prominent criminal lawyers in Kansas City. His subject was "The Ear Marks of a Man."

SPECIAL TRAIN

Carried Hi Henry's Valuable Dog and Porter Who Had Been Left Behind the Show.

As the Hi Henry minstrel company which played to a big house at the Auditorium last night, was leaving Lancaster Sunday morning where they showed Saturday night, one of the porters of the company and the big St. Bernard dog, "Goldie," were accidentally left behind. The loss was not discovered until New Lexington was reached.

Manager Bosworth of the troupe immediately had a special train made up at Lancaster and with the dog and porter aboard the special pulled into Zanesville about 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon.

At 4:40 the troupe, this time accompanied by the big dog, left for Newark, where the show appeared on Monday night.

AMUSEMENTS

From a rural comedy standpoint "The Hoosier Girl" deserves great and unlimited praise. It is lled to overflowing with clever dialogue and a plot that is strong and very amusing; many new, bright, sparkling specialties, an ocean of comical situations; a bevy of pretty girls, in fact "The Hoosier Girl" is a veritable antidote for the blues, and you can't afford to miss seeing the petite little actress, Miss Kate Matson as "The Hoosier Girl" at the Auditorium next Saturday evening, April 16.

RURAL CARRIER MISSING.

Lancaster, O., April 12.—William Davis, a rural mail carrier on route No. 2, out of this city, has been mysteriously missing since last Friday night and all efforts to locate him have proved futile. He was drinking in several down town saloons Friday night and when he failed to report for duty Saturday it was thought that he had simply gone on a spree. His domestic relations were pleasant, his accounts with the postoffice straight, and no reason for his disappearance is apparent. He has a wife and child living in this city.

THIN PEOPLE

want to get fat and fat people want to get thin—human nature. If you are fat don't take Scott's Emulsion. It will make you gain flesh. If you are thin Scott's Emulsion is just what you need.

It is one of the greatest flesh producers known. Not temporary gains but healthy, solid flesh that will fill out the body where it is needed.

There's nothing better than Scott's Emulsion for weakness and wasting.

Scott's Emulsion is a food-medicine; not a stimulant; not a mere "extract" or so-called "wine" of cod liver oil. It contains the whole oil perfectly emulsified; which is the only way of preserving its valuable properties.

LARGEST ON EARTH

Ringling Brothers' Great Circus Coming on Saturday, May 7.

Last year Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Shows was thought to have reached the climax of size and inventive genius, but his season's display proves this idea to have been fallacious. Not only are there a greater number of imported ring features, and startling home creations, including the spectacular production of Jerusalem and the Crusades, but all the other departments of the show life—the menagerie, aquarium and horse fair—have been enlarged nearly double. Two giraffes, supposed to be the last of their race, the only rhinoceros in captivity, a real baby elephant, no higher than its mother's knee, and taking nourishment like a human infant, and a seemingly incredible herd of forty elephants, are exclusive features in this remarkable zoological collection. This baby elephant is the first ever bred, born and successfully reared in America. It is a sight of a life time, and an object of the keenest scientific study as well as popular delight. The model horse of aristocratic lineage and perfect symmetry is shown with Ringling Brothers' marvellous exhibitions as seen nowhere else in the world. These horses not only have rare beauty of form, but they exhibit amazing intelligence, and in their graceful and difficult exercises present a feature of indescribable attraction.

Saturday, May 7 is the day fixed for the exhibition of the Ringling Brothers' World's Greatest Shows in Newark. Readers of this paper are familiar with the magnitude and high character of this famous show. No circus has ever reached the public heart like this one. Other exhibitions come and go, but the impression they make is short lived, while the memory of the great Ringling Brothers' shows is a lingering pleasure, and makes their return warmly welcome. Circus ideas that whet public curiosity generally originate with this great enterprise, and whenever copied by other shows never create the same interest or sensation. The reason is not far to seek. The Ringling Brothers' not only expend extravagant sums of money to get the truly novel in arena features, but they insist upon securing the ablest known performers to interpret these acts. Each season presents a program of surprising freshness and enjoyment. Everything goes along with the speed of perfect system, and the myriad and bewildering bill is finished before the slightest tinge of unrest is felt. Acts follow each other without the slightest delay, and the delicate and heavy properties are arranged without friction or notice. The theatre stage manager is made to appear like a much overrated and puffed-up person after witnessing the masterly manner in which the immense program of the great Ringling Brothers great shows is handled. This circus is the standard of the world, more than twice as big as any other, and must be copied by all that seek success.

The exports of domestic manufactures during the eight months ending with February amounted to $288,400,000, which makes a new high record.

Experiments show that a person speaking in the open air can be heard about as well at a distance of 100 feet in front as he can at 75 feet to one side or 50 feet in the rear.

WOMAN MUTILATES SELF.

Hamilton, O., April 12.—Mrs. Catharine Hines, 75 years old, mutilated herself terribly late yesterday in an effort to commit suicide, which her doctors say, must prove fatal, because of her advanced age.

Mrs. Hines first gashed herself twice in the throat with a butcher knife. It was dull and she then seized a knife used for paring fruit and slashed herself. Finally she cut herself repeatedly with a pen knife, not desisting until she was too weak to continue. Members of her family know no reason for Mrs. Hines' act.
